

Rothman Institute of
Innovation and Entrepreneurship

Bio of Dale Caldwell, Ed.D.
(732) 208-9808
dcaldwell@fdu.edu

Dr. Dale G. Caldwell is an adjunct professor and the executive director of the Rothman Institute of Innovation and Entrepreneurship in the Silberman College of Business at Fairleigh Dickinson University (FDU). He is leading the Institute's efforts to support, promote and research family, veteran and student entrepreneurship. In addition, Dr. Caldwell is the host of the TV show Family Business World (www.FamilyBusinessWorld.com). His research focus is on entrepreneurship, job creation and public policy. Dr. Caldwell's professional experience includes being the CEO of the management consulting firm Strategic Influence LLC, senior manager at Deloitte Consulting, founding executive director of the Newark Alliance and deputy commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs.

Dr. Caldwell earned a BA in Economics from Princeton University, an MBA in Finance from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania and a Doctorate in Education Administration from Seton Hall University. He is an International Coach Federation (ICF) Associate Certified Coach (ACC) who completed the Harvard Kennedy School Senior Executives in State and Local Government program and the Rutgers Leadership Coaching for Organizational Performance program. Dr. Caldwell is an active volunteer who has been president of the New Brunswick Board of Education and the Educational Services Commission of New Jersey and was named New Jersey School Board Member of the Year in 2009. He is also an accomplished athlete who has completed three marathons and received national rankings in the United States in duathlon, tennis and triathlon.